

ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest from Different Sections.

Over $1,000 has been subscribed in Ludlow for the establishment of a cheese factory there.

Rev. Raymond A. Beardslee of Springfield received word recently of the death of a brother in France.

The Plymouth Creamery company has bought an old homestead with seven acres of land in the north part of St. Johnsbury and announces that it will spend $50,000 in new buildings and the establishment of a condensed milk factory.

A freak azalea is in bloom at the E. B. Patterson store in Bennington, putting forth on two sideshooting purple blossoms, white on the rest of the plant are pink blossoms, more than 60 in all. On the sideshows, more from each bud comes three flowers.

Gilbert Williams has been arrested in Bellows Falls on the charge of stealing bronze castings from the plant of the Vermont Farm Machine company, where he had been employed for several months. It is alleged that the castings were found in the room occupied by him.

Deacon Charles W. Osmond, who for 47 years has taught a Sunday school class in the Congregational church at Bellows Falls, estimates that during that time more than 500 different people have been members of it. Fred C. Hildreth is the only member of the original class remaining in Bellows Falls.

Mrs. Sperry and Mrs. Chandler of Windham own a remarkable cat. The families live about one-half mile apart and when one wishes to send a note to the other they fasten it on a ribbon around the cat's neck and away he goes, returning later with the answer. Mrs. Sperry and Mrs. Chandler are sisters and until recently lived in the same house.

Fire which started from a chimney destroyed the house, barn, produce, one cow and three pigs belonging to Israel Hall of Halifax Jan. 30. There was a loss of $3,000, with small insurance. There was no telephone near and the only help came from Jacksonville, two miles away, where the fire was seen. When assistance from there reached the farm the buildings were practically destroyed. Twenty-four head of cattle were saved.

Mrs. Nancy C. Bush, who died last week at her home in Charlotte at the age of 88 years, taught many years in the schools at Ferrisburg and Charlotte, and after the death of her first husband, John Pope, in 1863, took up the study of telegraphy and was one of the first telegraphers employed by the old Rutland & Burlington Railroad company. She was also assistant postmaster in the postoffice, which was at that time located in the station at Charlotte. During the last administration of President Grant she was appointed postmistress for Charlotte, which position she held continuously for over 35 years, or until July 15, 1914. For the past four years she had been a helpless invalid.

ST. JOHNSBURY MAN DEAD.

Roy F. Scott, Lately Returned from France, Died at Orono, Me.

Orono, Me., Feb. 3.—The death of Roy F. Scott, aged 26, of the wholesale grocery firm of F. A. Scott & Co., St. Johnsbury, Vt., occurred here late Friday night of influenza. He recently returned from France, where he served in a field artillery regiment of the 75th division. He came here from Camp Devens to visit friends about two weeks ago and was ill when he arrived.

TWO MEN INJURED.

When Supporting Wall of Power Plant Collapsed.

Middlebury, Feb. 3.—Chester Ingalls of Salisbury, assistant superintendent of Arthur Bird, draftsman of Brandon, of the Horton Power company, engaged in erecting a large plant on the site of the Green Mountain Pulp company's old plant, were injured when one of the side walls of the plant went out with the heavy pressure of water, carrying with it a portion of the roof on which the two men were.

Following the discovery of water leaking into the machinery room they had gone to the roof to look for the cause. Hardly had they reached the roof when the wall of cement three feet thick, about 25 by 50 feet, gave way. Mr. Ingalls was thrown into the debris about 75 feet. Mr. Bird was carried about the same distance, striking Otter Creek, which carried him with the fragment of the roof about 10 rods.

Men who were working in the pit under the wall heard the cracking and managed to get out without injury.

The two injured men were rescued by their comrades and doctors cared for them. Both are badly bruised about the body and head and it is feared they are hurt internally. The loss to the company will be several thousand dollars. The wheels were started up for the first time Thursday.

EARLY HATCHING.

See Your County Agent About Your Poultry Wants.

The earlier hatching campaign is progressing nicely, and your county agent is now able to inform you where you can get your own eggs hatched, or can buy day-old chicks nearby. This feature works entirely to your advantage; you have no delay or transportation difficulties and the chicks arrive in better shape. Why not patronize your own local industries?

Disent pastures are not always the greenest, neither are disent poultry plants always the best to fill your wants. Your chances are better, or so good, for getting eggs or chicks from good layers here in Vermont as the average flocks outside the state, because over 12,000 birds have been culled in the state this fall. In other words, the elimination of over 5,000 drones in Vermont flocks means that your chances are better for getting eggs or chicks from as good layers as the average flock elsewhere, where in some instances the flocks have not been culled at all.

Another point in your favor is that these people in Vermont have been told how to mate up their breeders for better egg production. You can reap the benefit of this culling as well as the owners. Your county agent will soon be able to tell you where you can get your poultry wants filled; or write directly to the extension service of the University of Vermont.

ADVOCATES STATE INSURANCE.

Carl Hookstadt Urges Radical Steps to Aid Men Crippled in Industry.

Radical remedies to solve the problem of the man permanently crippled in industry are advocated by Carl Hookstadt in an article in the December number of the Monthly Labor Review, issued by the bureau of labor statistics of the United States department of labor. His proposals are:

The compensation scale of benefits to be materially increased to approximate the loss of earning capacity.

Adequate medical and surgical treatment to be furnished by the state.

Vocational schools closely correlated to rehabilitation hospitals.

Re-employment at suitable jobs and at fair wages.

Establishment of exclusive state insurance fund or an employers' mutual association to be substituted for competitive casualty companies.

Establishment of a central authority, preferably of an industrial accident commission, to administer and supervise the entire rehabilitation program.

Interesting figures brought out by several investigations show that in Massachusetts the average period of total disability for the loss of a hand or arm is 13.4 months, while in California it is 12.7 months. For the loss of a foot or a leg in Massachusetts 24.8 months are lost, while 13.4 months are lost in California for the same accident.

"Two important facts stand out," writes Mr. Hookstadt. "One is the greater severity of the foot and leg injuries over those of the hand and arm and the other the unexpected long period of disability in all cases. One-third of the workers losing a hand or foot are disabled for 18 months or over. The average length of total disability for the lesser injuries is: Loss of eye, 4.8 months; one thumb, 2.4 months; one finger, 2.1 months; two or more fingers, 3.8 months."

The seriousness of the disability increases with the age of the workman, the investigation conducted by Mr. Hookstadt prove. The average total disability for those under 45 years and those 45 years and over is as follows: Loss of one limb, men under 45 years, 12.2 months; men 45 years or over 20.3 months; loss of one eye, men under 45 years, 4.4 months; men 45 years or over, 6.5 months; loss of one thumb, 4.1 and 4.6 months, respectively; one finger, 2 and 3.7 months; two or more fingers, 3.4 and 5.1 months.

Over one-third of the persons sustaining a major injury return to the same employer," writes Mr. Hookstadt. "and about one-fourth re-enter the same occupation, while in the case of minor injuries three-fourths return to the same employer and two-thirds follow the same occupation."

Inability to speak English in many cases lessens the opportunity for re-employment, although it is not possible to show this statistically because of incomplete and indefinite data. In a number of cases reported by the industrial accident board and by insurance companies in Massachusetts this factor had a determining influence. Ability to understand and speak the English language may not be of vital importance to a machine tender in a cotton mill, but it is essential to watchmen, messengers, and elevator operators, and it is occupations of this character that most of the injured employees fill after their injury.

"Summarizing the above conclusions," declares Mr. Hookstadt, "it may be said that re-employability of crippled industrial workers varies directly with degree of occupational skill and ability to speak English, and inversely with severity of the injury and the age of the employee."

"The period of total disability resulting from the injury is unnecessarily long. Only about one-third of the seriously crippled workers return to the same employer, and relatively few re-enter the same occupation. The compensation benefits are inadequate, and practically no restraining has been done. A critical analysis of the several contributory causes have their origin in, and are closely related to, the absence of a central and responsible supervising authority. The welfare of our crippled men has been nobody's business. Closely connected with this irresponsibility is the lack of opportunity. The very fact that men are crippled has closed the door of opportunity against them. They are not given a chance to show their worth or ability."

Administrator's Public Auction

To settle the estate of the late John M. Sullivan the undersigned administrator will sell the following described property on the premises at Roxbury, Vt., on the above date:

REAL ESTATE

The Home Place, which consists of about 175 acres, well divided into tillage, pasture and woodland, and is located about one mile east of Roxbury village. The house and barns are in good repair and there is also a small apple orchard. The hard and soft wood on the place would easily pay the purchase price. A wood lot of about 30 acres, principally spruce, with some hard wood, will be sold separately.

PERSONAL PROPERTY

One Chestnut mare, weight about 1,200, age 9 years, a good driver and worker. One yearling colt raised from this mare. Nine good grade cows and five heifers, all to freshen in February or March, and in excellent condition. These cows are all believed to be under eight years old. Four calves. Eighteen good-sized and heavily coated sheep from one to three years old. Three pigs and one young brood sow.

A large quantity of farming tools such as mowing machines, two horse rakes, plows, planter, cultivators, wagons, sleds, driving and work harnesses, cream separator, circular and drag saw outfit, gasoline engine, cider mill, sugaring utensils, milk pails and pans, and numerous small tools such as forks, shovels, chains, blocks, etc. A small quantity of household furniture, consisting of beds, bureaus, chairs, stoves. Also new sewing machine, etc., will be sold.

ALL THIS PROPERTY WILL BE SOLD TO HIGHEST BIDDER UNDER LICENSE FROM THE PROBATE COURT.

Prospective purchasers will be provided transportation to the premises from Roxbury depot after the morning trains, if they will notify the administrator on or before the day previous to the sale of their desire to attend.

LUNCHEON WILL BE SERVED AT NOON

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Weeks—Sparkling Eyes—Crisp Hair—Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.
